

Plans for Welcoming Home the 49th Battalion To Be Discussed in Citizen's Meeting Next Tuesday

Mayor and Aldermen Wish City's Special Part of the Celebration to Take Form of Civic Banquet and Smoker to 49th Boys at the Armories in the Evening

A general dinner will be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, at 7:15, in the council chamber of the 44th Battalion, which is expected to be held at the Hotel March. Manager Starks of the Baltimore Sun, who is in the city, will take general charge of the dinner. It is expected that he will be willing to act in that capacity. The dinner will be a social affair and will be the welcome at the main entrance of the hotel. The dinner will come in two special trains, reaching the city at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. There will be a triumphant parade through the city, which will be the city, winding up at the Parmenter Hotel, where the 44th Battalion authorities will hold their reception. After the dinner, the parade will break rank and spend the afternoon with their families and friends.

In the evening there will be a banquet at the Parmenter Hotel, which will be held at the armories with the exercises of the 44th Battalion.

Everyone Invited

A letter from the mayor has been mailed to the secretary of every organization in the city which could participate in the celebration, asking its co-operation. It is requested that any association that may have inadvertently been overlooked will send a representative to the meeting Tuesday night. Teh mayor's letter follows:

Dear Sir:
Edmonton's own battalion—the 4th—is expected to return to the city in a body early in March. It is the intention of the city and the province to give them a welcome that has never before been equaled for enthusiasm, gaiety and heartiness thanks for their services. Every organization in the city—fraternal, commercial, national—is asked to join in organizing a demonstration of welcome to be remembered so long as the war is talked

A meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 28th at 8:15 in the council chamber of the city hall. Those who receive the notice of all who are interested in the details of the music, parade, reception, transportation, etc., will be asked to appear in person for the purpose of these committees. It is hoped that a large number of representatives to this meeting, with whatever suggestions may be made, in any way may be satisfactory to your organization, and to make any suggestion which you may wish to have considered.

NEXT WEEK'S
ATTRACTIONSONE OF EDMONTON'S STAGE
FAVORITES, LATE JNO. MASON,
COMES IN "MORAL SUICIDE"At Empress Last Three Days Next Week. Was Seen Here in "Fine
Feathers," and, Later, in "As a Man Thinks."

John Mason, who died only recently in England, and who will be well remembered by Edmontonians for the two splendid productions in which he appeared here, "Fine Feathers" and "As a Man Thinks," has left the scene of his ability as an actor on the screen in the subject "Moral Suicide," which is at the Empress theatre the last three days of next week.

As Richard Covington, Mr. Mason plays the part of a man who runs the gamut of all emotions from great affluence to absolute poverty from social leadership to moral degradation. The role affords his extraordinary production for building a commanding strong personality in the production. Mr. Mason was born at Orange, N.J., in 1855. He was a direct descendant on his father's side, of Governor Thatcher of Massachusetts. Beginning his stage career at the age of twenty, he appeared with such eminent artists as Lawrence Barrett, Mary Anderson, Lotta Crabtree, Joseph Bonomi, Fanny Davenport, Mrs. Pike (in Edmonton), Frank C. Buzze, and Warren, etc. He was seen in all of the greatest and Sullivan opera and originated many of the principal roles. Among his more recent successes are the stage version of "The Yellow Ticket," in which he was Baron Aron, "Big Jim Hickey," "The Song of Songs," and "Common Clay." As an actor he was rated with no less an authority than Augustus Thomas, the playwright, who said: "Mason has all that Girty has, and in addition has the ability to wear a dress suit and conduct himself in a salon with the grace of a nobleman."

FROM THE NOVEL "C"

Why should a famous physician suddenly sacrifice friends, fame and fortune—disappear to hide his hand in shame from his fellow practitioners? What reasons are powerful enough to cause him to thus give up the benefits that came as the result of a lifetime's

The doctor and the woman, the Jewel adaptation of Mary Roberts Rinehart's powerful novel "C," tells the story of this physician's predicament. A famous doctor who attended the dreamland insane, will have the opportunity of seeing it when the management of that theatre present it Monday.

Of special interest in the fact that "The Doctor and the Woman" was directed by Lola Weber, whose recent production "The Price of a Good Time," created such a sensation in the community. True Boardman appears as co-star with Miss Marie Dezel (Mrs. Charlie Chaplin), enacting the role of the doctor's physician who seeks out to hide himself from his fellowmen.

CAST WILL BE SEEN AT THE ALLEN
NEXT WEEK IN FAMOUS "ARIZONA"Notable Stage Success of Augustus Thomas Is Adopted for Screen
With Doug Taking Part of "Lieutenant Denton"—
Here For Three Days

The fact that "Arizona" was plotted four years ago by its author, Augustus Thomas, did not discourage Douglas Fairbanks from doing it himself and reviving the attractive character of "Lieutenant Denton." It will be shown at the Allen next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Like the typical Shakespearean actor that he is, Douglas has been spending the time of "Arizona" to such an extent that his office staff have found it necessary to memorize such and to sacrifice their routine labor to "act out" with Fairbanks. Ever since he first saw the play "Arizona" it has been his dream, his one great ambition, to produce it, and when the opportunity arrived to do so, it was a happy day for Douglas.

COMTESSE DE MARTEMPREY IS
MONARCH FEATURE THURSDAY

Seldom indeed does a figure so picturesque as Comtesse de Martemprey find her way to the screen. Yet because of her brilliant and yet romantic career the silent picture of her life is being shown here. Discovered by Rex Beach shortly after her arrival in America.

The American novelist declared that the story was the prototype of the character he had created in "Two Fat Men," which will be seen at the Monarch next Thursday, and only she could play the part of the Comtesse. He wished it to be played, and it is enough, rather than the life of the Comtesse. Florida matched those of the Comtesse in the play.

In "Two Fat Men" she is supposed to be an American girl who has given her chateau in France to the Comtesse, who has become a nurse. As it happens, Comtesse de Martemprey was in Florida, and there to marry Comtesse de Martemprey, she died after a long period in every capital of Europe, where her husband was on various diplomatic missions.

Her second alliance gave her the right not only to the title of Comtesse de Martemprey, but Princess de Martemprey as well, and she became a baroness. But for her public appearance she wore her former title. Her brother is Major Broadbent of the American army and she is related to the Comtesse de Martemprey.

Her husband is attached to the staff of Gen. Foch and his grandfather, Gen. de Martemprey, the close to Napoleon in the invalids. With a twinkle in her grey eyes, Comtesse de Martemprey is the brother of her aunt and says she was married twelve years ago to Prince Philippe d'Orléans, who might have been King of France were not a republic.

GIRL INVITES BURGLAR TO RECEPTION

Tense Scene With Burglar Is Depicted in "Kiss or Kill" at the Regent

She heard a slight brushing noise at the window. In horror of maidens she grasped a revolver from the table and levelled it in the direction from which the noise had come. "Come in," she called, "and throw up your hands!"

A man entered the room, a tantalizing smile on his lips. "Don't shoot," he said. "I'm a hold, but I'm not a burglar. I'm a thief. I was a thief, she knew, but there was something about his voice, and his smile that made her hesitate to shoot. She dropped the revolver. The man, quick as a flash became master of the situation. Before he would consent to leave, he said that he had stolen a picture. He wanted a man who had persuaded him to marry him against his better judgment—a man who—

The scene of the romance in which I was to be taken of the night-terror Mr. Simpson told the entire question of the Japanese invasion. "She belongs to her parents," he said. "I am carried out entirely by their will and her maiden days for me. A long continuation of her child life, of flirtation and courtship she knows nothing. Friendship between a girl and a young man is not supposed to exist. While she is not under as strict supervision as in former days, she is nevertheless not permitted to meet young men on terms of equality—even to have a minute's talk with one of them."

One can believe the truth of this authoritative statement in beholding the development of Oscar Watson's charming love story, from which have derived more real romantic pleasure than has ever been given me by any other book or play.

SMUGGLERS, LOVE AND EXCITEMENT
AT THE ORPHEUM

If you were a young woman born into the smartest set in New York society, if your younger sister had committed a crime, if in order to save her you were forced to become the secret agent of the customs to aid in the detection of a man who had smuggled a two hundred thousand dollar necklace into the country—if you fell in love with the smuggler you were compelled to pursue it, if it became a choice between your sister and the man you loved, what would you do?

If you were a man who had smuggled a necklace into the country, if you suspected that someone of the government agents was on your trail, if you learned that the girl you loved was trying to send you to prison, if you were compelled to fight her, what would you do?

That is the beginning of the play, "Under Cover," which the Orpheum Players will present the first three nights of next week with a Wednesday matinee. Through it all runs the story of three lively, amusing, and Elsie Cartwright, customs agent of R. J., the mysterious figure of the secret service, of the Harringtons, a husband and wife in love with either, of Monty Denby's frightened friend, of Nora, who would rather do than be old fashioned, of the pearl necklace, of life in the customs and in the fashionable set of Long Island, of excitement and mystery and surprise.

WHAT PRESS
AGENTS SAY

The last three nights of the week bring "Bully," a comedy of words, that will be found most enjoyable. The Orpheum management announces that arrangements have been completed for Eleanor Glynn's play "Three Weeks" and it will be offered for three days only, starting Monday February 24. The next sale will commence a week in advance.

Showing at the Regent next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

STREET RAILWAY SITUATION

Editor The Bulletin.

Referring to the published account of the street railway situation on Wednesday, it seems to the writer that the railway experts indulged in a lot of "descriptive criticism," destructive in so far as it seemed to develop the situation. From the remarks of Mayor Clarke one would naturally expect a "railway man" and, of course, to take his words literally. "He underestimates the business," which there is considerable divergence of opinion.

This suggestion or proposition would become a real public enterprise for the immediate benefit of the citizens and also now and in time to come for everyone else.

I have the honor to be, sir,

NEWS AND COMMENT OF THE LABOR WORLD

Weekly Resume of Happenings of the Week in Labor Circles Local and General

ORGANIZED LABOR PROVED TO BE ECONOMICALLY CORRUPT

The continued growth of organized labor in the face of the most bitter opposition proves that it is economically corrupt. This point should be appreciated by the most prejudiced employer, and should call for careful investigation on his part. But the employer who has never had dealings with trade unions, whose associations have been such that it would be impossible for him to hold other than biased opinions regarding these institutions, will claim that organized labor, or if he should enter into contractual relations with it would insist upon ruining his business and dictate what he should or should not do, in addition extorting all the stock arguments against collective bargaining.

The principles and policies of organized labor may be condensed and explained in the one word "cooperation." Co-operation cannot be forced. It must be given voluntarily and is the offering of mutual confidence and respect. Where the relation between employer and employee is that of master and slave, where the future of the worker may be said to lie in the hands of the master, there will be friction, distrust and—the important thing with the manufacturer—reduced production.

Where organized labor is employed, where conditions and wages are satisfactory, where the workingman knows he cannot be discharged unless the cause for such dismissal is furnished by himself, he then comes to look upon the factory shop or mine in which he is employed from the same angle as does the owner or manager, evincing the same lively interest in its success as does the latter. The result is that the worker co-operates, and there is a decided improvement in the quality of the output.

The above is only one of a host of advantages that accrue to the manufacturer through the employment of organized labor under proper conditions, and gives an idea as to the reason for the continued growth and expansion of the trade union movement—Labor Review.

MEN WITHOUT WHITE
I give preference to trade unionists," says Judge Cullen of the Australian Arbitration Court. "Because I am convinced that the man who gives a considerable portion of his earnings each week to try and improve the condition in which he lives is justly entitled to more consideration than the man who remains outside and will not give a portion of his time or a fraction of his money to better the conditions of himself and those who are dependent upon his earnings."

A MATTER OF ADJUSTMENT

Labor Editor Bulletin.
Sir:—With respect to the problem of re-assigning the soldiers and munition workers who have been withdrawn from the field of production during the war I suggest the following for your consideration:

The population of Canada was, in round numbers, at the beginning of the war, 7,000,000. Let us assume that 4,000,000 were producers, the others being incapable by reason of age or other disability of engaging in productive work.

Of these 4,000,000 producers 500,000 were withdrawn for military service and 500,000 for munitions making and other non-productive activities. These figures may not be quite accurate but are approximately correct, to illustrate my argument.

With these 700,000 producers withdrawn from the field and being engaged not only in non-productive, but actually destructive effort, the balance of the remaining 3,500,000 of the working population has to be a matter of fact for the 2,000,000 who do not support the non-productive 700,000, as well as themselves and also the 1,000,000 who were incapable of working.

Now that the war is over and the need no longer exists of taking the labor of the 700,000 in non-productive will have been issued to the local unions. In the meantime, the executive of the Alberta Federation decided upon a substitute plan to present to the convention of that body. It was that the federation should request the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to call a conference of four representatives from each province in the whole of Canada, to discuss the question created by the present state of hostilities. This plan was, however, turned down by the convention, and it was decided to support the conference which will be composed of delegates from the four western provinces.

The conference has been called for March, and it is expected that a large number of delegates will be in attendance from all parts of the west. Edmonton will send a large party of its quota of delegates, who will no doubt take an active part in the deliberations of the convention.

TRADES COUNCIL AWAK TO GOOD DEED

Two meetings of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council have been held this year and both have been noted for the splendid attendance of delegates. At the annual meeting in January, President McCreath expressed his pleasure at the very support in the affairs of the central body by the local unions.

Secretary Ferguson gave an interesting report of the progress made by the council in 1918. It was pointed out that the executive of the present headquarters had a great deal to do with the increasing interest on behalf of the individual organizations. Practically all the local unions are meeting in the hall.

The local officials are credited with the excellent start for 1919, and feel that if the present interest is maintained, the activities of the council will benefit all the labor movement, but the whole community.

SERVICE FLAG OF THE TYPHOGRAPHICAL UNION

Following is a description of the Service Flag of the local Typographical Union No. 494, which was adopted on January 13, at a social function in the hall of the union, celebrating the anniversary of the Typographical Union. The flag is of pretty design in satin, green and red, and carries the letters T. U. with a star. Embroidered in the center are the forty-two local leaves, nine across the top of the letter T, carrying also gold crosses in the center.

showing the nine members who died in the service. Worn across the top of the flag is the word "Edmonton" at bottom the word "Albera," along with the Typographical Union label. The flag and the design is the handiwork of Miss Louise Appleby in the union, and was donated entirely for them in honor of the activities of the union's members.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

At the last regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council the matter of the Great War Veterans Memorial Hall was dealt with. The council resolved to lend every assistance to the hall and the memorial fund. In the matter of the recently arrived in the city of the local unions, the council decided to ask all local unions to contribute seven and three pence, if possible, to the fund. The council will take up the matter with the local unions and the council will be pleased to have all the local unions carry out this plan. The council will be pleased to have all the local unions carry out this plan.

The secretary will communicate with the local unions and the council will be pleased to have all the local unions carry out this plan. The council will be pleased to have all the local unions carry out this plan.

The present system of plural voting is expected to receive some attention at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council Monday night, when the special committee on charter amendments makes its report.

It may also be decided at the same meeting, whether or not the council will be represented at the Western Canada Trades Union conference, which will be held in Calgary next month.

It cannot always be foreseen when a matter of vital importance to the labor movement is going to come up at a meeting of the council. If, therefore, the action taken is to be representative of the whole movement, the delegates would do well to remember that they have an engagement every first and third Monday, in the Labor Hall.

The local unions of District 13, M. W. A., now form a very considerable part of the local labor movement. The minor delegates are always in their place, at the Trades Council meetings. There are a large number of carpenters unemployed in the province at present, according to a statement made by a delegate from the carpenters' local at the last meeting of the Trades Council. The information was also given that a delegation of carpenters had interviewed Premier Stewart in connection with the unemployment question.

After a combined lockout and strike lasting for twelve weeks, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, have succeeded in establishing a forty-four hour week in the men's clothing industry.

Among the really active unions in the city are the Civil Employees' Union No. 20, and Civil Service Union No. 22.

Secretary Farnham of the Trades Council is preparing a fair wage schedule covering all trades affected, which will be presented to the city.

President McCreath is a busy man. Besides holding the position as official head of the local labor movement, he is president of the local Typographical union, and vice-president of the Western Canada Conference of Typographical unions. The committee he is connected with outside the movement are legion.

Secretary Farnham is again vice-president of the Alberta Federation of Labor, representing the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council.

S. W. Bellamy, of Medicine Hat and Alderman F. J. White, of Calgary, both printers, are the vice-presidents representing those cities.

The local branch of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance are considering the matter of becoming affiliated with the Trades and Labor Council.

All the agreements of the printing trades union in Edmonton expire this year.

The debate on scientific socialism between Rev. Wm. Irvine of Calgary and J. H. Knight of Edmonton, which was postponed for an indefinite period.

The employees of the E. D. & B. C. railway of West Edmonton, submitted something like $100 to the soldiers' memorial fund.

According to a report of the United States Bureau of Education, there is more money spent in that country for heating gun than for school books, more for automobiles than for all primary and secondary education. The average wage of teachers is less than that of the average day laborer.

"Buy your printing at home" is the slogan of Edmonton printers who claim that a number of large firms in the city send their work out of town.

Rev. W. K. Thomson and Rev. F. Summich are the fraternal delegates from the Ministerial Association to the Trades council. No doubt their attendance will be of mutual benefit to all concerned.

A loan association owned and operated by organized labor has been established in the state of Washington.

If a government decree a general eight-hour day has been established in Peru.

Alderman Kinney is now devoting his whole time to the work of the compensation board.

In all but ten of the United States the theory of compensation for accidents is recognized.

"Jim" Vinday, the social exponent of the Trades and Labor council, is able to be about again after a severe attack of influenza.

Miss Ross, M.P.P., and Mrs. L. C. McKinnon, M.P.P., are to be the speakers at a public meeting in the Labor hall on February 15th.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—It is officially announced through the Canadian Trade Commission that the sanction of the minister of munitions will no longer be necessary for the manufacture of wire rope and for wire for export to overseas dominions.

Haven't We Done It in the Past? — It's Stopped in the Future!

WEEK FEBRUARY 18-22

TO THE EMPLOYER:

There is an angle to this Appeal that directly interests you. Needs, not words, deeds—the Salvation Army does good deeds by the tens of thousands. The records prove it. Yet, like the British Navy, we hardly ever hear much about them.

The reason, perhaps, is that all Army workers are of the people. They are rich, oh, so rich in spirit; but in the world's goods, poor.

Being poor, they know what the poor suffer, and know best how to minister to them.

They were with the British Army at Mons. They won the heart and respect of the "Tommy" right at the start. AND THEY HAVE HELD IT. The Army just loves the army. It's "jake."

And, now, they have set themselves a big task in reconstruction—to help the Returning Soldier and his Family and just themselves to the routine of civil life.

Among the people there is no suspicion of the Army or its motives. To be a Salvation Army Officer is to consecrate oneself to this practical Christian work. You know yourself that the Army is doing good.

You know that its administration is honest and economical.

And you know that no other appeal presents so great a challenge to your generosity.

Give liberally to it, therefore, when you are called upon. If you are not called upon, mail your cheque—don't fail to give because someone has not personally asked you.

TO THE INDUSTRIAL WORKER:

We know that there is no section of the community from whom a more generous response to our Appeal will come than from you.

You know the Army. You see it in action and observe the regenerative results of its work every day. The Committee in charge of this Campaign are going strong after money to carry on this wonderful service to man. It is necessary to go hard after it among those people who are not as familiar with the work of the Army as you are, and need more education on the subject.

But we do not overlook the fact that the attainment of the objective must in the final reckoning depend upon you.

You have given time and time again to the Army. It is your gifts largely, that have carried them to the place they have reached.

Your heart will prompt a spontaneous gift even if you are not personally approached, therefore, do as your heart dictates.

Mail or bring your donation in to Headquarters right now.

You know yourself that if ever there was a dollar given for any purpose for which a full dollar's worth of service was rendered, that purpose is the work of the Salvation Army, both at home and abroad.

EBERT TELLS OF PLANS TO JOURNALISTS

Will Announce Plans to Carry Out Complete Disarmament and Demobilization

Weimar, Feb. 13. (Associated Press)—Chancellor Brüning will not go to the peace conference as a delegate from Germany, German plans for the time being at least, a people's army on the basis of general conscription. Germany will announce within a few days her intention to carry out complete disarmament and demobilization and a committee made up of the centre, democratic and socialist parties is now discussing details of new governmental program.

These points were made by Friedrich Ebert, the new president of Germany, in an informal talk with foreign newspaper men today. They answered the question of American and British correspondents, asked after the reading of a formal statement which virtually followed the lines of his address on Wednesday, in which he emphasized Germany's intention to re-establish peace.

The German program, according to the statement, includes all rights for men and women, the improvement of the educational system, conscription along democratic lines to establish a people's army, rationing at maximum price of food and necessities of life, care of the wounded and the families of those who died in the war, the socialization of all industries, the right of trade unions, and considerable additions to income tax.

Regarding Seed Oats

There appears to be a good deal of confusion existing among farmers in regard to seed oats. In order to secure enough seed oats for seed purposes, the farmer must be careful to select the best quality of seed oats. It is not intended to interfere with the shipment of oats from one farmer to another or from one group of farmers to another group of farmers where the oats are legitimately required for seed purposes and are fit for use. "Falling Thrones and Rising Nations"

THE nations are "in the melting pot," just now. The world knows not the morning what new danger may be threatening it by night. Amid all these uncertainties in which individual fortunes are at stake, we look anxiously for permanence, and we find it in life insurance companies.

Canadian, British and American life companies have defied war and pestilence, and continue day by day on their courses unmoved.

What is it that gives life insurance its solidity? The first is: the theory of life insurance agrees with the facts of experience. And then unity: life insurance embodies as nothing else does the principle that in union is strength.

A large group of men united for a single purpose are irresistible, so, amid the chaotic conditions in the world today, swept by war and plague, and threatened with social revolution, the life company holds on its way. The wise man will put every available dollar into sound life insurance.

The Annual Visit of Mr. Gopher—The Tax Collector

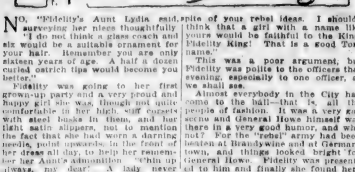

It has been estimated that the gopher gets two bags out of every grainstore produced by the Western prairie. It is like a job for the Food Controller—but that gentleman could not do better than to advise the immediate and sufficient use of Gophercide.

Gophercide

Is gophercide treated so that it is eighty times as soluble as ordinary gophercide? It has no bitter taste; and it is right into the grain, staying there without deterioration for a long time in spite of all kinds of weather. Requires no vinegar or acids; just warm water. Dissolve a package of Gophercide in half a gallon of warm water and in this mix a gallon of wheat which will kill about 400 gophers, and kill them quickly. Save your grain this year. Get Gophercide—RIGHT NOW—from your druggist or from our nearest branch.

"ONCE upon a time," began Aunt Betty, "there lived a man who had a charming life—"

"Aw, tell us a real story," interrupted Jimmie. "About Indians and soldiers and heroes, but not about fairies."

"And make it a true story," added Jack, "two boys old for make-believe."

"But this is a really true story," said Aunt Betty again, "the little boy, and it is about soldiers and heroes, the greatest hero of the world."

"Oh, our teacher told us all about him," cried Jack, "how he chopped down the cherry tree and broke his mother's collar and always told the truth."

"Did she tell you about his charming life?" asked Aunt Betty. The boys shook their heads and waited down to listen to Aunt Betty's story, satisfied

The Ant

When you turn over a stone or a log, you will see underneath hundreds of ants running in every direction you can see. They are busy at work. They are busy at play. You see only the top of their heads. You see only their legs. You have taken their roof away and you can see their eyes. You can see their wings. But if you could see the whole ant, you could know how much little and how much big each ant is. You could see that each ant has his special task to do. You could see that each ant is a soldier. Every village is governed by a queen. The queen is the mother of all her subjects. It is really she who makes the laws. She is the ruler of the eggs. The queen has her army of soldiers. They are the ants that march out to fight to protect the village from other insects. They have large heads and they have strong legs. You may be sure that their enemies are the beetles, the grasshoppers, and the flies. To carry off other insects as food, the ants have soldiers. These are the ants called workers. Look at the ants that are busy at work. They are busy to bring it home, and there is honey plenty for these little workers to eat. They are busy to bring it home. They keep a living honey pot at home. You can see that one of their little rooms is full of honey. The workers bring the honey and feed it to the ants under the pot. The ants under the pot are the other ants. His store it all up in his little room. He is the ant that is the hungry village.

Think You Have Made a Mistake?
Answered Washington's Captain

"He was falling into his trap," said Jack.

"Was it really a trap?" asked Jack.

"No, he goes to escape?" said Washington. Oh, go on tell us what happened.

"Washington was as wary as a fox," he said, and so at one o'clock, just as the conversation Washington had at the old gentleman's home, he went to the old gentleman's house at six, and Washington suggested that they walk on the subject. During the conversation Washington had talked to the subject of traitors and spies, and he had told him the reason why some Americans were so ungrateful as to forget what the army and navy had done for them, and to turn their backs on their own families, to turn themselves to the enemy, and to fight and fust and was too

"What soldiers are these?" cried the general, noting the red coats and the bayoneted rifles.
"The men of the mounted guard," answered the captain, "are to protect you and keep me safe," answered the old soldier in a tremble.
"What do you want here to protect me?" asked the general.
"You against me, sir, what insult is this?" cried the old soldier.
At this time the soldiers had dismounted and were ascending the hill. The old man came close to the general and said in a low voice, "I am your friend, and I will go with you."
"Tenderly, you have made me my prisoner," said the general.
"I think you have made a mistake," answered the old soldier, "and that there is a prisoner here, but not that man, and I am your friend."

ANNOUNCING

The Formation of "BRITISH FILMS LIMITED"

UNDER DIRECTION of JULE and JAY J. ALLEN

Endeavoring to meet the ever increasing demand of the patriotic people of Canada for the display of British films on the Canadian screens, "BRITISH FILMS LIMITED" is being organized to import, distribute and exploit the leading photo plays of Britain and stories woven around British and Canadian life

THE manufacture of motion picture films within the British Empire has now been brought to a high state of perfection, as many British films already distributed by us and to be released in the near future attest. Before the war a large percentage of the films shown in Great Britain were imported from other countries. But the output of films made in Britain has steadily increased, and there is an abundant supply to meet the reasonable demand of our people that British films should be given a fair measure of representation upon the screen.

A great majority of our patrons in Canada are of British birth or descent. They are naturally desirous of seeing reproduced upon our screens some pictures of British life. As a British people we are proud of our history, our traditions, and our achievements. We desire to see the picture play masterpieces that are produced in the mother country and to be brought face to face with the rulers, the statesmen, the soldiers and the sailors of the motherland.

There have been many requests for a more adequate representation of British films. These requests have been brought to our attention in many ways, and we feel that they should be granted. For the past ten years we have maintained an office in London, and have secured many British films which have scored a tremendous success in Canada. Some of these will be hereafter enumerated, together with a list of other films of British origin now in course of production and soon to be released.

This subject has been up for discussion many times in the periodicals and the press of the country, and without exception these organs of public opinion have voiced the demand for a more adequate representation of British films in Canada. They have felt it would be in the interests of our national Empire. Our position is that the Canadian public would like to have a fair and adequate measure of representation accorded the British films, and for that purpose we have organized the "British Films Limited," and will therefore be in a much better position than ever before to meet the wishes of our patrons and of the people of Canada in this particular regard.

Our patrons and the public generally will recall with pleasure a number of our successes as soon as they are mentioned. They include "DAVID COPPERFIELD," "IVANHOE," "THE BATTLE OF WATTE RLOO," "BRITAIN PREPARED," "BATTLE OF THE SOMME," "CANADIAN ARMIES IN ACTION," "THE ADVANCE OF THE TANKS," "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," another British success now being exhibited in Canada, was created by D. W. GRIFFITH at the request of and in co-operation with the British Government; "THE GREAT LOVE," another masterpiece of D. W. GRIFFITH; "SPORTING LIFE," the famous British racing melodrama, WHICH OPENS AT THE ALLEN THEATRE, EDMONTON, FOR 4 DAYS, COMMENCING MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24TH; AND THAT DYNAMIC SUCCESS, "THE BETTER 'OLE," WHICH HAS CREATED A SENSATION IN EDMONTON AT THE ALLEN THEATRE DURING THE LAST WEEK, brings the list up to a creditable showing.

The new national patriotic policy, of which this, the announcement, will soon bear fruit in the importation of many of the most recent and successful British films. Within the near future there will be released in Canada that most touching story of the war, already famous in Britain, under the title of "The Kiddies in the Ruins." Those who have seen the play, "The Better 'Ole," in London, will remember the question of Alf, "What is this blinkin' war about?" The answer is given in the play, "The Kiddies in the Ruins," which depicts an humble home in France before and after the battle of the Somme. Those who have seen this wonderful production, it is said, are never able to efface from their minds its deep impression of pathos and humor.

Lady Beaverbrook, addressing an audience of fifteen hundred women at Ashton, told of the impression made upon Lloyd George by the "Kiddies in the Ruins." She said, "He sat with one of my babies on his knee and his arm around the other two. You should have seen his face change from loving sympathy to bitter hatred at the evil committed by the Boche on the children of France."

Another production soon to be witnessed by our patrons throughout Canada is entitled "God Bless Our Red, White and Blue." This is a story to make the heart swell with pride for the England that is and the England that has been. The Red is the coat of the Chelsea pensioner; the White is the spotless apron of the army nurse; the Blue is the pathetic and ever to be honored coat of Tommy wounded.

"Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Sailor." This one of the best productions that were ever made in England. One of the reasons for its tremendous success is the subject of the story. It tells of a girl who was asked to marry a man she does not love, and her predicament. The film has three different stories showing (1) How it would have been if she had married the man her parents desired; (2) How it would have been had she married the man of her choice; (3) How it was. The story is somewhat similar to the play, "The Eyes of Youth," which had a tremendous success in New York and Toronto.

These make up a number of the stirring, splendid picture plays of British origin that we will soon show in Canada. There will also be imported from Britain many films dealing with the history of the past, and the history that is now in the making. At no time has Britain, the mistress of the seas, occupied such a commanding place in the affairs of the world. Her rulers, statesmen, soldiers, and sailors will be seen face to face by the people of Canada. All these films will breathe the spirit of British liberty and British nationality. They will focus the minds and hearts of the spectators upon British achievements and British institutions. They will be encircled and inspired by an atmosphere of imperial patriotism.

From the above announcement it will be easily seen to what a very considerable extent the proportion of British films will be increased in the houses under our management and the management of affiliated companies.

TO MAKE WAY FOR THIS LARGE NUMBER OF BRITISH FILMS, THE COMPANIES AFFILIATED AND CONTROLLED BY US WILL CURTAIL THEIR IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN FILMS, EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY, FROM TWENTY TO THIRTY PER CENT.

The organization of the British Films Limited should be hailed with delight as our New Year's message and our New Year's gift to the people of Canada.

Mother! Look at his Tongue!

Give Him a Cascaret—Quick!
Won't eat? Don't scold! See if tongue is white, breath feverish, stomach sour.

While children usually fight against laxatives and cathartics, they gladly eat a candy Cascaret. Cascarets never gripe the bowels, never sicken. Each ten cent box of Cascarets contains directions for dose for children aged one year old and upwards.
